ESSs can be divided into two groups: high-energy-density storage systems and high-power storage systems. High-energy-density systems generally have slower response times but can supply power for longer. In contrast, high-power-density systems offer rapid response times and deliver energy at higher rates, though for shorter durations [27, 28].

It is difficult to unify standardization and modulation due to the distinct characteristics of ESS technologies. There are emerging concerns on how to cost-effectively utilize various ESS technologies to cope with operational issues of power systems, e.g., the accommodation of intermittent renewable energy and the resilience enhancement against ...
